In keeping with the directives of the Knowledge Consortium of Gujarat, GMC had initiated Theatre training and performance under the auspices of Natyadhara. Shri Chetanbhai Dave, as the expert took up the responsibility of training 12 students in the areas of stage-acting, voice-modulation, dialogue delivery, costume, make-up etc. and supplementing it with power-point presentations on the history of the Theatre in west and the east. Incidentally, the College has a Stage well-equipped with proscenium arch, back-stage including wings, crossover and dressing rooms. Accordingly, the students staged two performances this year. The first was titled as Shahadat. The skit showcased the duties and responsibilities of the soldier and the common man drawing parallels on how both could serve the country in their respective areas of work. It was performed on 26th January in the august presence of the teaching and student fraternity of Arya Kanya Gurukul Educational Institutions. The second play was titled as Gyan-dharma. This Skit was specially prepared keeping the Annual Programme of the College in mind. The play took issue with the purpose of girl-education and how many students tend to leave their education mid-way in the absence of proper guidance or social compulsions. The play visualizes a story of a girl-child who initially loses interest in studies but when properly guided takes up her studies with zeal and goes on to live up to the country's expectations.
